

Junior Programmer (part-time)

December 13, 2016

SOL VISTA helps hotel and other commercial building owners reduce their utility costs and environmental impact. Our customers are located throughout the U.S., and include well-known brands such as W Hotels, InterContinental, Sofitel, Viceroy, and Westin.

Location: Silver Spring, MD (3 blocks from Silver Spring Metro Station, Red Line)

Position Title: Junior Programmer (part-time)

Position Overview: The ideal candidate is excited about the prospect of working in a start-up environment on energy-efficiency-related software development projects and technology. For the right candidate, this is an opportunity to contribute to building a software platform that will be used by professionals in industries including commercial real estate, energy, hospitality, and environmental sustainability.

Responsibilities:

- Contribute to the design, development, testing, and maintenance of software development projects.
- Manage project priorities, deadlines, and deliverables as communicated by team members.
- Process, analyze, aggregate, and input utility data, as needed.
- Maintain data quality requirements by following established techniques and procedures; report needed changes as may be appropriate.
- Protect operations by keeping information confidential.
- Perform ad hoc projects and other responsibilities as may be appropriate.

Requirements:

- Some experience with programming concepts and languages (such as Java, VBA, C++, C#, PHP, etc.)
- Completed class projects requiring programming beyond just basic HTML/CSS
- Superior typing, verbal, and written communication skills.
- High-proficiency with Microsoft Office programs, especially Excel.
- Strong attention to detail and ability to quickly and accurately review data.
- Good organizational and time management skills, including daily and weekly planning.

Preferred:

- Java and/or Node.JS experience
- Students currently seeking degrees in Computer Science or related technical field and/or candidates having equivalent experience with software/web development
- Candidates with some experience building applications
- Candidates with basic understanding of relational databases

Start date: Immediate

Hours per week: Part-time, minimum 20 hours per week, maximum 30 hours per week

Compensation: $13.50/hour
